

ABOUT

I am a junior golfer from Rio Cuarto, Argentina, who discovered a true passion for golf two years ago. Since then, I have worked hard to improve every day and realized I want to give myself the opportunity to become the best golfer I can be. I believe the American college system is the ideal pathway because it allows me to compete at a high level while pursuing a university degree, which is equally important to me.

I am highly motivated to achieve this goal and continue developing with the support of my coaches. I am excited about the opportunity to represent a university, contribute to a competitive team, and grow both on the golf course and in the classroom.
